

Education Committee (Responsible Trustee: Vice President for Education and Research - Prof. Andre Ng, Chair Dr Shouvik Haldar)

Delivering high quality education and training in cardiology across a range of specialties is one of BCS's strategic aims in its 5 year strategy. Our goal is to be a recognised educator and the go-to provider of educational courses and content for cardiologists and the allied professions.

We are continually improving our course portfolio and have been diversifying and modernising our approaches to education delivery to better suit member needs.

The Education Committee is responsible for the delivery of the education strategy of the British Cardiovascular Society as advised by the BCS Board of Trustees. The Committee proposes and delivers an agreed portfolio of educational courses for trainees, trained cardiologists, allied health professionals and other professional groups and continually evaluates and refreshes educational courses to ensure they meet the Board objectives. The Committee will consider and influence different innovative modes and methods of delivery to suit our members and to maximise access. There is significant emphasis in delivering more on-line education and an overseas educational programme and as such the Committee will work closely with other committees such as the Digital, Communications and Marketing Committee to ensure there is unified approach to deliver these strategic aims.

Elected members are expected to attend committee meetings and actively engage in the work of the committee, leading on courses as directed by the chair.

The Education Committee formally meets five times per year (at least 75% attendance required), via Teams (with occasional face to face meetings when circumstances permit), and elected members serve a term of three years.
